FROM THE PASTOR'S HEART

WHILE IT IS IN OUR HANDS

Thirty-first Sunday in Ordinary Time – Year A • All Saints Day

Dear brothers and sisters in Christ,

I still remember the first time my parents voted after becoming American citizens. They were so excited that they could hardly sleep the night before. Early the next morning, they woke me up because they could not wait any longer. I drove Mom and Dad to the local school in Forest Hills to cast their ballots for the first time. But before going to vote, they went to Mass.

For them, voting was something precious because they understood what it meant finally to have a voice. They had come from a communist country where they had never experienced this kind of freedom and participation. Now their beliefs mattered, their voices mattered, and they believed their choices could help shape their children's future.

We children used to tease them that they put the rest of us to shame. They took every election seriously. They prayed, studied the candidates and issues, and tried to make choices that reflected their faith. Their Election Day routine was remarkably consistent: first Mass, then the voting booth.

That memory means something different to me now that my father is gone. What was once simply a happy family memory has become something I treasure about him—the values he lived and quietly handed on to us. This Sunday, on All Saints Day, we look toward those who have reached their heavenly home. On Monday, All Souls Day, we remember and pray for those we have lost—including, for me, my own father. Then on Tuesday, Election Day, we turn our attention to the world we will leave to those who come after us.

These three days invite us to look in three directions. All Saints asks us to look up and remember that we are made for heaven. All Souls asks us to look back with gratitude and prayer for those who came before us. Election Day asks us to look around and consider our responsibility for the world God has entrusted to us.

As Catholics, our faith does not tell us which political party to belong to, but the Gospel does shape the way we approach public life. It calls us to respect the dignity of every human life, care for the poor and vulnerable, strengthen families, seek justice and peace, respect truth, and work for the common good.

Voting is one part of that responsibility. Before we cast a vote, however, we should first form our conscience before God. Instead of simply asking, "Which party agrees with me?" perhaps we should ask, "How much have I allowed the Gospel to shape what I believe?" No political party perfectly represents the Gospel. Our first loyalty belongs to Christ.

Looking back, I understand my parents' excitement much better now. They knew they had been given something precious, and they did not want to take it for granted. They were thinking not only about themselves, but about the generations who would come after them. One day, the same will be true of us. Someone else will sit in our pew and inherit the parish, the city, the country, and the world we leave behind. We have received much from those who came before us, and one day we will hand it on. The question is what we will do with it while it is in our hands.

Thus, in these first three days of November, the saints remind us where we are going, the dead remind us where we came from, and Election Day asks us what we are doing with the time in between. To the saints, we owe our imitation; to the dead, our prayers; and to the living, our responsibility.

With prayer and affection,

Msgr. "John" Cuong M. Pham

DEL CORAZON DEL PÁRROCO

MIENTRAS ESTE EN NUESTRAS MANOS

Trigésimo Primer Domingo del Tiempo Ordinario – Ciclo A • Todos los Santos

Queridos hermanos y hermanas en Cristo,

Nunca olvidaré la primera vez que mis padres votaron después de hacerse ciudadanos estadounidenses. Estaban tan emocionados que casi no durmieron la noche anterior. A la mañana siguiente me despertaron temprano porque ya querían ir. Los llevé a una escuela en Forest Hills para votar por primera vez. Pero antes, fueron a Misa.

Para ellos, votar significaba muchísimo, porque sabían lo que era poder tener voz. Venían de un país comunista donde nunca habían conocido esa libertad de participación. Ahora su voz contaba, y sentían que sus decisiones podían contribuir al futuro de sus hijos y nietos.

Nosotros bromeábamos diciendo que nos hacían quedar mal. Se tomaban cada elección muy en serio. Rezaban, se informaban sobre los candidatos y los temas importantes, y trataban de decidir de acuerdo con su fe. Su costumbre era siempre la misma: primero la Misa y después, a votar.

Ese recuerdo tiene un significado diferente para mí ahora que mi padre ya no está con nosotros. Lo que antes era simplemente un bonito recuerdo familiar se ha convertido en algo que atesoro: su ejemplo y los valores que nos dejó. Este domingo, en Todos los Santos, dirigimos la mirada hacia quienes ya han llegado a la patria celestial. El lunes, Día de los Fieles Difuntos, recordamos y rezamos por nuestros seres queridos que han partido, entre ellos, para mí, mi propio padre. Y el martes, Día de las Elecciones, pensamos en el mundo que dejaremos a quienes vengan después.

Estos tres días nos invitan a mirar en tres direcciones*: hacia arriba,* recordando que fuimos creados para el cielo; hacia atrás, con gratitud y oración por quienes nos precedieron; y a nuestro alrededor, reconociendo nuestra responsabilidad por el mundo que Dios nos ha confiado.

Como católicos, nuestra fe no nos dice a qué partido político debemos pertenecer, pero el Evangelio sí debe orientar nuestras decisiones. Nos llama a respetar la dignidad de toda vida humana, cuidar a los pobres y vulnerables, fortalecer a las familias, buscar la justicia y la paz, respetar la verdad y trabajar por el bien común.

Votar es parte de esa responsabilidad. Pero antes debemos formar nuestra conciencia ante Dios. En vez de preguntarnos solamente: "¿Qué partido piensa como yo?", quizás deberíamos preguntarnos: "¿Cuánto he dejado que el Evangelio forme mi manera de pensar?" Ningún partido representa perfectamente el Evangelio. Nuestra primera lealtad es a Cristo.

Ahora entiendo mucho mejor la emoción de mis padres. Sabían que habían recibido algo muy valioso y no querían darlo por sentado. No pensaban solamente en ellos mismos, sino también en sus hijos y en los nietos que vendrían después. Algún día sucederá lo mismo con nosotros. Otros se sentarán en estas bancas y recibirán la parroquia, la ciudad, el país y el mundo que dejemos. Hemos recibido mucho de quienes vinieron antes, y un día lo entregaremos a quienes vengan después. La pregunta es qué haremos con todo ello mientras esté en nuestras manos.

Quizás ese sea el hilo que une estos primeros días de noviembre: los santos nos recuerdan hacia dónde vamos, nuestros difuntos nos recuerdan de dónde venimos, y el Día de las Elecciones nos invita a pensar qué estamos haciendo con el tiempo que se nos ha dado. De los santos aprendemos; por nuestros difuntos rezamos; y con los que viven, tenemos una responsabilidad.

Con mis oraciones y afecto,

Mons. "Juan" Cuong M. Pham

NOVEMBER CEMETERY VISITS

In November, the Church invites us to visit the graves of our loved ones, following a long and beautiful biblical tradition. Jesus Himself went to the tomb of His friend Lazarus, and Mary Magdalene went to the Lord's tomb on the morning of the Resurrection.

When we visit the resting places of our loved ones, we do so in faith and hope—remembering that death is not the end, but a passage to new life. We believe in the promise of the resurrection, when God will call forth all the dead to share in His eternal glory. Whether our loved ones are already in Heaven or still being purified in Purgatory, they remain united with us in the Communion of Saints.

During your visit, take a moment to pray, read a Psalm, or simply walk in peaceful reflection. It will do much good for your soul and for those you love.

The Church grants a plenary indulgence to the faithful who devoutly visit a cemetery during the first eight days of November and pray, even silently, for the departed. This indulgence, which can be applied only to the souls in Purgatory, reminds us that our prayers truly help our loved ones draw closer to eternal rest.

VISTIAS AL CEMENTERIO EN NOVIEMBRE

En el mes de noviembre, la Iglesia nos invita a visitar las tumbas de nuestros seres queridos, siguiendo una hermosa y antigua tradición bíblica. Jesús mismo visitó la tumba de su amigo Lázaro, y María Magdalena fue al sepulcro del Señor en la mañana de la Resurrección.

Cuando visitamos los lugares donde descansan nuestros seres queridos, lo hacemos con fe y esperanza, recordando que la muerte no es el final, sino un paso hacia la vida nueva. Creemos en la promesa de la resurrección, cuando Dios llamará a todos los difuntos a compartir su gloria eterna. Ya sea que nuestros seres queridos estén en el Cielo o aún se purifiquen en el Purgatorio, permanecen unidos a nosotros en la Comunión de los Santos.

Durante su visita, tómese un momento para orar, leer un salmo o simplemente caminar en silencio y en paz. Le hará mucho bien al alma y también a las almas de quienes ama.

La Iglesia concede una indulgencia plenaria a los fieles que, con devoción, visiten un cementerio durante los primeros ocho días de noviembre y recen, aunque sea en silencio, por los difuntos. Esta indulgencia, que solo puede aplicarse a las almas del Purgatorio, nos recuerda que nuestras oraciones ayudan verdaderamente a que nuestros seres queridos se acerquen a la paz y al descanso eterno.
