FROM THE PASTOR'S HEART

THE NEIGHBOR WE DO NOT SEE

Thirtieth Sunday in Ordinary Time – Year A • Matthew 22:34–40

Dear brothers and sisters in Christ,

Living in New York, we become very good at not seeing people. We walk quickly. We have somewhere to be. On the sidewalk, on the subway, at the store, people are all around us, and we learn almost instinctively to keep moving. We pass the delivery worker rushing to his next stop, the elderly woman carrying her groceries, the immigrant struggling to make himself understood, the homeless person asking for help. Most of the time, we are not deliberately unkind. We simply do not notice.

God, however, notices everyone. That is what struck me in this Sunday's first reading. God tells Israel not to oppress the alien, the widow, the orphan, or the poor (cf. Exodus 22:20-26). Then he says something powerful: "If he cries out to me, I will hear him; for I am compassionate." God hears the cry that the rest of us may no longer hear.

Indeed, he gives Israel a reason: "You were once aliens yourselves in the land of Egypt." In other words: remember. Remember what it was like to be the stranger, to be afraid, to have little, or to depend upon someone else's kindness. God asks Israel to allow the memory of its own vulnerability to become compassion for someone else.

That message should resonate deeply with us in this parish. So many of our families came to this country from somewhere else. Italian, Irish, Hispanic, Czech, Filipino, Vietnamese, and others arrived in New York with different languages and customs, but with the same hope for a better life. Some came generations ago; others much more recently. Many knew what it meant to begin again as strangers.

God tells us: do not forget—not simply where we came from, but the mercy that helped us get here. When another stranger now stands before us, perhaps God is asking us to offer the same dignity and kindness that someone once offered us.

That helps us understand why Jesus joins two commandments together in this Sunday's Gospel: love God with all your heart, and "love your neighbor as yourself" (Matthew 22:34-40). Those last two words matter. To love my neighbor as myself is to recognize something of my own humanity in the person standing before me. Their story may be different from mine, but their fear, their hope, and their dignity are not.

We often say that we love God. Jesus' commandment gives that love a face. That face belongs even to someone we cannot yet see. October is Respect Life Month, reminding us that this same God-given dignity belongs to every human life, including the child still in the womb. An unborn child cannot speak, ask for protection, or make his or her cry heard. Yet silence does not make that life less precious. Perhaps the most vulnerable neighbor is precisely the one whose voice we cannot hear.

And reverence for life cannot end at birth. It must remain with the frightened mother who needs support, the immigrant seeking a place, the poor family struggling to make ends meet, the person with a disability, and the elderly person who fears being forgotten. No human life is invisible to God, and none should become invisible to us.

So this week, brothers and sisters, allow me to leave you with this thought: Who is the neighbor God is asking me to notice? Somewhere very close to us, someone may already be crying out. God has heard. The question is whether we will.

With blessings upon you and your family,

Msgr. "John" Cuong M. Pham

DEL CORAZON DEL PÁRROCO

EL PRÓJIMO QUE DIOS SI VE

XXIX Domingo del Tiempo Ordinario – Año A • Mateo 22:34–40

Queridos hermanos y hermanas en Cristo,

Vivir en Nueva York puede acostumbrarnos a pasar de largo sin fijarnos en los demás. Siempre vamos de prisa, tenemos algo que hacer y estamos rodeados de gente. Pasamos junto al repartidor que corre de una entrega a otra, la persona mayor cargando sus bolsas, el inmigrante que no logra hacerse entender o la persona sin hogar que pide ayuda. No es que queramos ser indiferentes. Muchas veces, simplemente dejamos de ver.

Pero Dios sí ve. Eso me llama mucho la atención en la primera lectura de este domingo. Dios le dice a su pueblo que no maltrate al extranjero, a la viuda, al huérfano ni al pobre (cfr. Exodus 22:20-26). Y luego dice algo muy fuerte: "Si clama a mí, yo lo escucharé, porque soy compasivo." Dios escucha el grito que tantas veces dejamos de escuchar.

Y les recuerda por qué: "Ustedes fueron extranjeros en Egipto." Es como si Dios les dijera: Acuérdense. Acuérdense de lo que significa ser extranjero, tener miedo, tener poco o depender de la bondad de alguien. Recordar nuestra propia fragilidad nos hace más compasivos con los demás.

Este mensaje nos toca muy de cerca en nuestra parroquia. Muchas de nuestras familias llegaron a este país desde otras tierras. Italianos, irlandeses, hispanos, checos, filipinos, vietnamitas y tantos otros llegaron a Nueva York con idiomas y costumbres diferentes, pero con la misma esperanza de salir adelante y construir una vida mejor. Muchos saben lo que significa comenzar en un país que no es el suyo.

Por eso Dios nos dice: no se olviden. No olvidemos de dónde venimos, pero tampoco a quienes nos tendieron la mano cuando más lo necesitábamos. Y cuando hoy encontramos a otro extranjero entre nosotros, quizás Dios nos esté pidiendo que le ofrezcamos la misma acogida y dignidad que otros un día ofrecieron a nuestras familias.

Así entendemos mejor por qué Jesús une dos mandamientos en el Evangelio de este domingo: amar a Dios con todo el corazón y "amar a tu prójimo como a ti mismo" (cfr. Mateo 22, 34-40). Amar al prójimo es reconocer algo de nosotros mismos en la persona que tenemos delante. Su historia puede ser distinta de la nuestra, pero conocemos el miedo, la esperanza, la necesidad de ser acogidos y el deseo de ser tratados con dignidad. Decimos que amamos a Dios. Jesús nos recuerda que ese amor tiene un rostro concreto.

Y ese rostro puede ser también el de alguien a quien todavía no podemos ver. Octubre es el Mes del Respeto a la Vida y nos recuerda que toda vida humana tiene la misma dignidad ante Dios, también la del niño que todavía está en el vientre de su madre. Un niño por nacer no puede hablar, pedir ayuda ni defender su propia vida. Pero su silencio no hace que su vida valga menos. Quizás el prójimo más vulnerable sea precisamente aquel cuya voz no podemos escuchar.

Y el respeto por la vida no termina al nacer. También alcanza a la madre que necesita apoyo, al inmigrante que busca un lugar entre nosotros, al pobre, a la persona con discapacidad y al anciano que teme ser olvidado. Nadie es invisible para Dios, y nadie debería serlo para nosotros.

Esta semana, hagámonos una pregunta: ¿Quién es el prójimo que Dios me está pidiendo que vea? Quizás alguien muy cerca de nosotros ya esté pidiendo ser visto, escuchado o ayudado. Dios ya lo ha visto. La pregunta es si nosotros también lo veremos.

Con mis bendiciones para ustedes y sus familias,

Mons. "Juan" Cuong M. Pham
